Brainstorming.

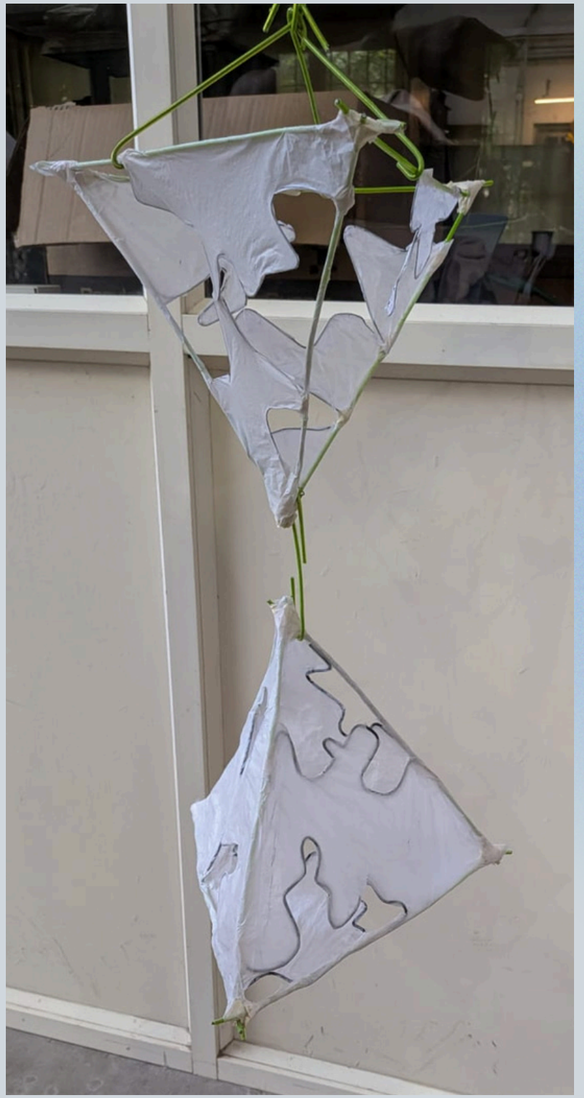

This was a group project that we worked on. Since 3 of us were working on it, we wanted to create 2 pieces that would attach together and interplay with each other. We decided to make a hanging structure with 2 attached tetrahedrons, one with paper filled in the positive spaces created by the wiring, and one with paper filling the negative spaces, making the 2 forms contrast and still belong to an overall bigger theme.

Creations.

We tried to make some sort of an abstract hourglass form that can be hung from the wall. We plan to paint the wires and the butterpaper it make it look more appealing, and hang it in our hostel wing.
